

Michael and Carole Ridding open new CVR bling emporium

1235 Coast Village Road.

The new 1,100 sq ft store, which complements owners Michael and Carole Ridding's boutique at the Biltmore, enables customers to see the company's artisans at work behind a glass screen. Formerly the workshop, with its goldsmiths and designers at work, was upstairs and not seen by the public.

"This is a new concept for us and will be a new experience for our clients," says Carole. "We believe this is a rejuvenation of traditional retail and will engage our customers."

The tony twosome's dogs, Ruby and Gracie, will also be at the store, which was formerly the headquarters of the Coast Village Association during the New Year mudslides and the former French designer footwear store, Arche.

Silverhorn's Back

Like the proverbial phoenix, the Montecito bling emporium, Silverhorn, which closed its doors after 30 years at 1155 Coast Village Road, has returned to the ritzy rue at
